Many individuals are sensitive to perfumes and other scents (such as scented oils, scented laundry soaps, scented deodorants, etc.) and have adverse health reactions upon exposure. In order to maintain an environment that is conducive to health, work and learning for all students, staff, faculty members and patients in the classroom, offices and the teaching clinic, the Boucher Institute of Naturopathic Medicine has a "fragrance free" policy. The use of products that produce a noticeable odour and/or cause an adverse health reaction in other individuals is prohibited while on campus. The use of such fragrances while working or attending class or clinical training will be considered as a Violation of the Rules of Conduct, and may be subject to administrative penalty.
